

Flooding Resources for St. Louis Area

We want to support you by providing resources in the St. Louis area that may be helpful as we respond to this record-breaking rainfall that has left many without power or with damage.

Flood Safety Tips:

1. Do not drive through flooded areas or barriers.
2. Do not walk through flowing water that could sweep you off your feet into danger.
3. Stay away from power lines and electrical wires and report down lines and issues to 911 or Ameren. Do not use electrical appliances if they have gotten wet or your house/area you are at is flooded.
4. Be alert for gas leaks, please contact Spire (next page) with any issues.

Additional support services

Officials are asking those who need assistance to call 211 for United Way's helpline. St. Louis also deployed mobile command centers for flood victims.

The City of St. Louis has deployed mobile command centers in the Ellendale and Kingsway West neighborhoods to centralize city services and offer residents food, water, PPE, and more. NSOs and other city officials are on site.

Governor Mike Parson announced that assessment experts are working in the field to survey storm damage and estimate repair costs. Parson also announced there will be two Multi-Agency Resource Centers, or MARCs, where flood victims can stop for recovery resources and supplies. Resources being handed out include emergency clean-up supplies, food stamp replacement services, emergency food boxes, emergency financial assistance, insurance information, legal services, and other disaster-related services.

John F. Kennedy Community Center, located at 315 Howdershell Road in Florissant will host one MARC on Wednesday, August 3 from 3 to 8 p.m. Another MARC will be hosted at Element Church, 100 Mall Parkway, Unit 500 in Wentzville on Tuesday, August 2 from 3 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Cool Down St. Louis has also launched efforts to help those affected by the floods. The organization has partnered with Missouri and Illinois groups to help relieve financial issues.
